

Debate Today at 1
In Union Ballroom
McGill vs. Virginia

ACS Ball Tonight
In Currie Gymnasium
Dancing from 10-3

Vol. XXXVI., No. 81

Montreal, Thursday, February 13, 1947

PRICE TWO CENTS

Stan Patton Plays At ACS Ball Tonight Up at Currie Gym

Some Tickets Available At Door

The Arts, Commerce and Science Ball will take place tonight in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium beginning at 10 p.m. and will feature the music of Stan Patton and his orchestra.

It was announced that a few tickets will be made available at the door, and reservations will be accepted by George in the Union Tuck Shop.

Rae Hunter is in charge of the supper arrangements, and she has promised excellent refreshments.

The decorations will feature a motif of midnight blue, with a sprinkling of silver stars. There will also be balloons to be released from the ceiling during the evening, according to Dick Tremaine, who is in charge of the decorating committee.

One of Canada's most distinctive orchestras, Stan Patton and his group feature novel arrangements, as they utilize no brass instruments, relying solely on reeds for their effects. Lovely Betty Morrison will be supplying the vocals for the evening, together with Tommy Gibb, who also plays alto sax.

Rudy Toth is another outstanding member of the orchestra. He does some arranging, but is especially on the piano and the vibraphone.

The dance will commence at 10 p.m. and will continue until 3 in the morning.

Diefenbaker Speaks to PC's Today at 4

John G. Diefenbaker, K.C., M.P., the Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, will be guest of the Progressive Club at an informal meeting to be held this afternoon between 4:30 and 6 p.m. in the Union Reading Room.

Mr. Diefenbaker is the sponsor of the proposed Bill of Rights, which is being introduced in the current session of Parliament, and is also the Chairman of his party's Committee on Justice. A former leader of the Conservative Party in Saskatchewan he was elected to the House of Commons in 1940. Mr. Diefenbaker served overseas in the First World War, and upon his return entered the practice of law in which he has been engaged since that time.

He was for some years a member of the Senate of the University of Saskatchewan and has at all times maintained an interest in his old Alma Mater.

This will be an opening meeting of the club and all students interested in politics and government are invited to meet Mr. Diefenbaker. Remarks will be of an informal nature and an opportunity will be given to all to question Mr. Diefenbaker.

I.V.C.F.

On Sunday, February 16th at 7:30 p.m. there will be a special student service at Christ Church Cathedral. Dean Evans will conduct the service assisted by members of the I.V.C.F. The preacher will be the Reverend Maurice Flint, Canadian Secretary of the Scripture Union, ex-patriate of the R.A.F. and missionary to Baffinland. All students are invited.

RCAF AIR TRAINING PLAN

Flt. Lt. Stanley, the RCAF representative will be at MCGILL COTC MESS TODAY FROM 2-4 P.M., and at DAWSON COLLEGE FROM 7-10 P.M. He will interview all students interested in the RCAF summer air-training plan. Preliminary selection will be made during the applicants visit.

New Zealanders Receive Warm Welcome from U. of M.

The visiting students from New Zealand expressed their warm enthusiasm of the generous reception from the University of Montreal students, when they visited there today.

On arriving at the university they were heartily welcomed by the President of the Students Association and, after spending a very pleasant lunch-hour with some of the students in the cafeteria, the visitors were given a cheerful University of Montreal yell. The New Zealanders in turn responded with the "Haka" which is a Maori war chant, their equivalent to one of our college yells.

They toured the Botanical Gardens and afterwards attended a cocktail party given in their honor by the University of Montreal students.

Today it is McGill's turn to entertain the New Zealand visitors. They will meet Dr. Thomson at his office at 10 a.m., and then the morning will be spent at the zoology labs in the Biology Building.

The women will eat at R.V.C. and will be entertained by the Red Wings, while the men will be met at the Union by three Scarlet Key members, Dick Pennyfather, Gordon Pfeiffer and Ted Taylor. During the lunch hour they will visit the McGill Daily and other parts of interest in the Union.

The next stop on the tour will be the Sir Arthur Currie gymnasium and from there they will return to the Biology buildings.

NFCUS Body To Examine Discrimination

Racial Discrimination at McGill will be the subject of a meeting today at 5 p.m. in the N.F.C.U.S. room in the basement of the Union, Mike Oliver, Chairman of the newly-created N.F.C.U.S. racial discrimination panel, announced last night.

This panel will continue the work of the McGill anti-discrimination committee, an unofficial body that was set up last summer by a group of students. This committee conducted research on the question of alleged discrimination against certain minority groups on this campus.

From the research findings a report was drawn up, but it was felt that the information was inadequate. As a consequence, the committee decided that official status would enhance the availability of further pertinent information. The committee is now a panel of the McGill N.F.C.U.S.

Chairman Oliver stated that with this new status, a much more thorough investigation into this "important question" could be accomplished. "The establishment of this official body," he continued, "will allow a broadening of the work that will include an examination of discriminatory policies on the campus itself especially with reference to fraternities." He further stated that the success of this committee's work would lie in active participation by the student body. A large attendance at tonight's meeting was necessary and desirable, he concluded.

Some helpful criticism to the other three speakers, and remarked on the quality of the speeches.

Princeton Increases Lead of Scholarships

The award of five more Rhodes Scholarships to Princeton students this year, has increased the number of Rhodes Scholars coming from this University to sixty-six.

Since the time of the first award in 1904, there has been a rivalry among American Universities for the greatest number of awards. The order in the race to date, is as follows: Princeton, Harvard, Yale, Virginia, Brown and Dartmouth, Idaho and Michigan, and in seventh place, Westpoint.

Colorful Local Graduate Cites World Unity

The notion that colleges should spearhead the evolution toward one world was put forward recently by Rev. Dr. Lyford Paterson Edwards, a graduate of McGill, and retiring professor of sociology of Bard College.

Delivering his last address after 28 years of teaching at the college, Dr. Edwards suggested to a student meeting at Annandale-on-Hudson, N.Y., that the function of colleges in the United States be advanced from preparing students for American citizenship to preparing them for world citizenship.

Born in London, Ont., and educated at McGill and the University of Chicago, Dr. Edwards was a colorful national figure. In 1919 he was the near-victim of a mob in Texas which attempted to lynch him for teaching "the heresy of evolution." Later he was the subject of investigations by the New York State Legislature after he had exposed political corruption.

Among his students during his long service at Bard College have been four present bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

8 Scholarships Newly Created

A group of friends of the late Chancellor Mr. Morris W. Wilson has given to the University the sum of $219,775 for the purpose of creating eight Morris W. Wilson Scholarships. Details will be released at a later date by the Board of Governors, but it is understood that each will cover the full cost of tuition, board and lodging during the four year period normally required to gain a degree—as is the case with the J. W. McConnell Scholarships.

These eight scholarships will be among the most valuable in Canada.

Model Steam Engine Given To McGill

McGill's Engineering Library has acquired a valuable exhibit as a result of a recent War Assets Corporation auction. The addition is a model steam engine brought to Canada in the 1830's. C. H. Shapiro, McGill graduate and vice-president of the Sendel Electrical Products Corporation bid successfully for the model and presented it to the University.

The miniature engine was found in the stables of Rideau Hall. The Governor-General's Ottawa residence. Its history goes back to the days before Rideau Hall belonged to the Crown. Inquiry has shown that the model was brought from England by the man who built Rideau Hall a century ago, The Hon. Thomas McKay who came to Ottawa as an Engineer when the Rideau Canal was being built.

His grandson, the late Charles Henry Keefe frequently mentioned this machine which War Assets engineers have described as "unique", for two generations of his family had used it as a plaything until the Ottawa estate was sold to the Government.

Mr. Shapiro, is himself an engineer, having obtained his B.Sc. at McGill in Electrical Engineering in 1932, and a Master's degree here the following year. Louis A. Sendel, president of the Electrical Corporation of which C. H. Shapiro is a prominent member, concurs in offering the gift to the University.

DVA INTERVIEWS

In the absence of Mr. C. M. McDougall, Students' Counsellor, Mr. E. C. Knowles of Dawson College will interview student veterans today (Feb. 13) in Room 15 of the Arts Building, hours 9:45-12:30; 2:00-5:00.

Through the week the office will remain open, as usual, for appointments, etc.

Bishop College Victorious In Interuniversity Debate; McGill Defeated in Ottawa

Virginians Clash Verbally With McGill Orators Today

Stephen Carness and Quinlan Hodges from Virginia University will debate against McGill's Hugh Banfill and Gerald Charness today in the Union Ballroom at 1 p.m.

Virginia University is in Charlottesville, Virginia, thereby making this challenge the farthest McGill has gone afield in her debating.

McGill is reputed to be well prepared for this debate and Hugh Banfill and Gerald Charness are said to be excellent speakers. Hugh Banfill, a graduate student, is a former member of Bishop's debating society and spoke in the I.U.D.E. for Bishop's. His confrere, Gerald Charness, is also an experienced speaker and debated for McGill and his former Alma Mater, Brooklyn College.

The debate will be conducted in the same manner as an I.U.D.E. debate. Each speaker will speak for ten minutes and the leader of the affirmative will have five minutes for rebuttal. The McGill team will uphold the affirmative.

Unlike the usual procedure, this major debate will take place at 1 p.m. in order to allow students an opportunity to hear a first class debate during lunch hour, it was asserted by the Debating Union Executive.

Mrs. Roosevelt Gives Address Here, Feb. 24

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will speak here at the Forum on Monday, February 24, as one of a group of prominent speakers at a meeting sponsored by the United Nations Society of Canada.

This meeting is being arranged to further the aims of United Nations, and it will be completely bi-lingual. The non-partisan character of the meeting is indicated by such speakers as the Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, John Bracken, and M. J. Coldwell.

Mrs. Roosevelt will be a delegate to the General Assembly of the United Nations and is the first chairman of the Human Rights Commission. Since Mrs. Roosevelt is perfectly bi-lingual, it is expected that she will speak in both English and French.

U of M Forms Relations Body

(By The Canadian University Press) A Public Relations Committee of the University of Montreal, which will be responsible for the university's future representation at conferences, was formed last night at a meeting of major personalities on the campus.

Twelve organizations are represented on the new committee. They are International Student Service, World Student Relief, Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union, The National Conference of Student Veterans, The Canadian Association of Medical Students and Internes, National Federation of College University Students, Canadian University Press, Trophy Villeneuve, French Debating Union, Canadian Youth Commission, Montreal Co-ordinating Commission, and The English Speaking Canadian National Debating Chairmanship.

Instituted last night by a group of students formed from the main campus organizations, the new committee's main purpose will be to act as the official representative of the U. of M. at National and International Conferences.

At the meeting it was resolved that a constitution of this committee be printed announcing the aim of the society, a list of members and a financial statement for next year. Secondly, it was resolved that the society request AGEUM permission to have representation on the board. Also, it decided to obtain a copy of the constitution of the university societies and associations.

Rennes Rector Here

Dr. Lucien Wolfe, rector of Rennes University, will speak at the RVC Common Room today at 5 p.m., on "La Jeunesse Française". The meeting is open to all staff and students of McGill.

On Friday at 12 noon, Dr. Wolfe will speak in English in Room 44 of the Arts Building. His subject will be "Political Parties in France Today."

Loss by 2-1 Count in Both Debates

At last night's Inter-University debate, the visiting Bishop's College team took a close two-to-one decision from the McGill debaters. Shatner and Beaton upholding the affirmative, "Resolved that the veto power contributes to the effective working of the United Nations", lost by only three points of a possible total of 600 points allowed each team.

The negative side was ably defended by McVie and Pilgrim of the Bishop's College team whose outstanding ability proved quite a challenge. Lapralle and Raymond representing McGill at Ottawa also suffered defeat in a two-to-one decision.

Conrad Shatner in opening the debate challenged that unanimity of the great powers was so to speak a guarantee of the interests of the United Nations as a whole, he went on to say that unanimity was not adopted by chance but after thorough and lengthy discussion, and that recognition of this principle reflected the desire of the United Nations to safeguard security.

In support of the negative, Bishop's McVie contended that the United Nations had not achieved its aim to settle strife with justice to both parties. He also raised the question of good faith in the Big Five—if they have no intention to wrong, then why the veto? He further pointed out that the Big Five were the only nations in a position to break peace and the only ones able to veto.

Without the veto, the Great Powers would never have originally joined and would today withdraw, was the point brought up by Beaton, speaking for McGill. The aim of the U.N. is ultimate world peace and to attain this end the great powers are needed, he pointed out and continued to show that the policy of brotherhood which was being created by the daily discussion of representatives of the Powers was a means to attain peace. He felt that the veto would in time fall into disuse as cooperation and confidence mounted within the Big Five.

Pilgrim, of Bishop's team, maintained that the U.N.O. was chiefly concerned with their own interests rather than those of world peace. Small nations could not feel secure, he stated, when they realized that the larger powers had only their conscience to check them.

In Ottawa, Lapralle challenged first on the grounds that veto power doesn't allow the enforcement.

Continued on Page 4

Quebec: Certain points in Government policy stand out with special clarity in the Speech from the Throne with which Major-General Sir Eugene Flisel, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, yesterday opened the Third Session of the 22nd Legislature.

London: Prime Minister Attlee last night placed Britain on a virtual war basis, issuing an order under wartime defence regulations that decreed fines or prison sentences for any of the United Kingdom's 49,000,000 people who disregarded a new island-wide limitation on household electricity.

Ottawa: Agreement between Canada and the United States to continue in peacetime the joint security work done in wartime by the Permanent Joint Defence Board was announced in the House during opening proceedings today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and at the same time in Washington.

There is more news about Laval University. M. R. P. Kernan, President of the Donatona Paper Co. Ltd., announced yesterday that in memory of the late Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Grand Chancellor and Royal Visitor of Laval, his company will give each year for the next 25 years, to Laval University, the sum of $75. This grant will be distributed among needy students of the Faculty of Land-Surveying and Forest Engineering.

Ex-R.C.A.F. groundcrews and students who had no previous experience are welcome to apply for this training plan.

Candidates selected for aircrew training will be chosen from undergraduates in any course leading to a degree. Preference will be given to students of Pure and Applied Science courses.

Ex-R.C.A.F. groundcrews and students who had no previous experience are welcome to apply for this training plan.

Quebec—Le Carabin, the official paper of the Students of Laval University, will be published every week from now on. The Laval paper had been a weekly but a few years ago it was reduced to a bi-monthly. The tradition is being renewed.

There is more news about Laval University. M. R. P. Kernan, President of the Donatona Paper Co. Ltd., announced yesterday that in memory of the late Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Grand Chancellor and Royal Visitor of Laval, his company will give each year for the next 25 years, to Laval University, the sum of $75. This grant will be distributed among needy students of the Faculty of Land-Surveying and Forest Engineering.

Ex-R.C.A.F. groundcrews and students who had no previous experience are welcome to apply for this training plan.

Candidates selected for aircrew training will be chosen from undergraduates in any course leading to a degree. Preference will be given to students of Pure and Applied Science courses.

Ex-R.C.A.F. groundcrews and students who had no previous experience are welcome to apply for this training plan.

Quebec—Le Carabin, the official paper of the Students of Laval University, will be published every week from now on. The Laval paper had been a weekly but a few years ago it was reduced to a bi-monthly. The tradition is being renewed.

There is more news about Laval University. M. R. P. Kernan, President of the Donatona Paper Co. Ltd., announced yesterday that in memory of the late Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Grand Chancellor and Royal Visitor of Laval, his company will give each year for the next 25 years, to Laval University, the sum of $75. This grant will be distributed among needy students of the Faculty of Land-Surveying and Forest Engineering.

Ex-R.C.A.F. groundcrews and students who had no previous experience are welcome to apply for this training plan.

Candidates selected for aircrew training will be chosen from undergraduates in any course leading to a degree. Preference will be given to students of Pure and Applied Science courses.

Ex-R.C.A.F. groundcrews and students who had no previous experience are welcome to apply for this training plan.

Dawscenes

"... and you know honey, I won't always be only making sixty bucks a month."

students "U.N. conscious" and to discuss the issues facing the world organization. There are now eighty-seven such organizations on college campuses throughout the United King's College, and from there they will return to the Biology buildings.

enings, gymnastics, crafts, art, philosophy, English and foreign languages.

MARYMOUNT—Letters Abroad

As part of a plan to stimulate interest in study abroad, students at Marymount College are encouraged by the faculty of the Romance Language Department to carry on correspondence with students in the college's branches in Paris and Rome. The college will resume a program of junior year study in Europe as soon as conditions there permit.

(Continued on Page 4)

HUNTER—Diversions

Courses offering relaxation and diversion to housewives and career women will be offered Feb. 19 by the Hunter College Evening Session. Men may also enroll in most of the courses and a special counselling service will be available to veterans. The program will include courses in home management, gardenvelop as slang, thirty voice-conscious girls have enlisted the aid of a speech instructor for constructive criticism. One of the aims of the program is to help the students overcome exaggerated southern drawls.

HAMILTON—Dissect Primates

Hamilton College has what is believed to be one of the few undergraduate physical anthropology courses in the country offering laboratory dissection of primates. Students dissect monkeys under the direction of Dr. Earl W. Count, while he performs similar demonstration work on chimpanzees. Dr. Count believes such laboratory work "shows students clearly the anatomical relationships between man and his ape ancestors."

OBERLIN—UNESCO Survey

A faculty committee has been appointed at Oberlin College to work with a student committee in a joint study of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. Emphasis in the study will be placed on ways in which the work of UNESCO may be furthered by educational institutions, their faculties and students.

PEMBROKE—U. N. Council

Brown University's Pembroke College has established a United Nations Council, the first in Rhode Island. Its purpose is to make the

Acadia Obtains Artificial Rink

(By The Canadian University Press)

A new artificial rink has just been completed at the University of Acadia.

The new rink was made possible through the generosity of John F. Lessell and the Board of Governors of the university. Due to shortages of material it seemed that the work would not be completed this year and eager expectancy which first glowed on the faces of the students faded to that of uncertainty and disappointment. In the first week in December workmen began the task of remodelling one of the old buildings on the campus to house the sixty ton plant.

Skill was proportionately combined with speed to build this artificial rink. Now everyone is all smiles as the 125 h.p. motor freezes the water to a smooth sheet of perfect ice. Flooding between the periods in the hockey games will also be inaugurated as soon as possible.

Acadia University, deep in the romantic land of Evangeline, now has become the first Maritime University, and as far as can be determined the second Canadian University, to install artificial ice.

Commerce Defeats Arts In Debating

Commerce defeated Arts & Science in the interfaculty debating at yesterday's luncheon meeting. The topic was "Resolved that government employees should be unionized."

Tom Bird and John Oliver, of Arts & Science, argued that it is the inalienable right of every man to join a union. Government employees wages are insufficient, they went on, and the only way this can be remedied is by a union.

Eric Colbert and Eric Barry, of the negative, held that government employees striking would endanger the security of a democratic country. Colbert quoted Roosevelt in saying that collective bargaining in government agencies would be a waste of money.

The judges not only gave the decision to the negative, but decided unanimously that John Oliver was the best speaker. They also gave

Campus and Classroom Notes On Education at Colleges

(The following news items are reprinted from The New York Times in the belief that they will prove interesting to the McGill student body—Ed.)

VASSAR—Conference

Vassar College will be host to 150 students representing twenty-two colleges and universities at the Eastern New York Student Christian Movement Conference from February 14 to 18. The program's theme will be "The Christian Student's International Responsibility." Discussion and seminar groups will be featured during the session.

NOTRE DAME—Medieval Study

Eight diversified subjects comprise the curriculum of the newly established Medieval Institute at the University of Notre Dame. Included in the studies for the first semester are medieval history, theology, philosophy, languages and literature, Latin paleography and art history. A student who elects to qualify for advanced degrees in the Graduate School during his course of study at the institute may obtain his master of arts degree at the conclusion of his second year and his doctorate in philosophy at the end of his third year.

AGNES SCOTT—"Gib Labs"

Effective speech as a professional asset and a social responsibility is sought at informal weekly "Gib Labs" by students of Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Ga., who cannot crowd speech electives into full schedules. To prove that good speaking habits are as easy to de-

McGill Daily

THE OLDEST COLLEGE DAILY IN CANADA

Eastern Regional Headquarters
Canadian University Press

Published every week-day
during the college year at 690 SHERBROOKE ST. W.
Telephone LANcaster 2244

Authorized as second class mail.
Post Office Department, Ottawa

Opinions expressed below are those of the Managing Board of the McGill Daily and not the official opinions of the Students' Society.

ALLAN KNIGHT..... Editor-in-Chief
HEM SHAYNE..... Managing Editor
THOMAS BUCK..... News Editor
NORMAN WOLFE..... Sports Editor
ALTHEA MCCOY..... Features Editor
G. H. FLETCHER..... Advertising Manager

GLENN LYMBURNER..... C.U.P. Editor
AL TUNIS..... Assistant News Editor
DAVID MARKS..... Assistant Sports Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Art, Music and Drama Editor..... Lya Popper
Assistant Features Editor..... Dusty Vineberg
City Editor..... Perc Tallman
Chief Staff Writer, Sports..... Larry Sirota
Women's News Editor..... Toby Falke
Women's Sports Editor..... Elizabeth Turner Bone
Dawson Editor..... Hy Pearl
Librarian..... Nancy Marcus
Staff Photographer..... Ed Kostiner

G.U.P. BUREAU

Bureau Chief..... Betty Brewer
Night Editor..... Jacob K. Siskind
Sports..... Bernard Cooper

DESK EDITORS

News..... Betty Sigler..... Conrad Shatner
Mary Moxon..... John Piper
Ethel Rabinovich..... Marvin Shiller
Keith Tishaw..... Lawrence Garmaise
Goldie Wolosky..... Bernice Dufresne
John Fetherstonhaugh..... Gerry Finkelstein

IN CHARGE OF THIS ISSUE

News..... Edwin Roset..... Ross Brougham
Senior Reporters
Tony Duncan, Jean Wrigglesworth, Paul Betts, Lee Short, Tom Bird.
Cub Reporters
Mirjam Insky, Massey Vender

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1947
Vol. XXXVI, No. 81

For a Positive Attitude

With some of the more important elections in the offing, this may be the best time for members of the Students Society to reconsider rationally an action taken at last year's series of meetings on changes in the Society's constitution. The action was the approval of the figure 500 for a quorum marking any meeting of the Society as official. It has appeared from time to time this session that this figure is far too high and is serving in the nature of a brake on any official action by the students at large.

It may be well to point out that the 500 figure was approved by many on the grounds that it is less than 10 per cent. of the enrolment of regular undergraduates and that less than 10 per cent. is not truly representative of student opinion. However, we have seen that in a specific case which has roused the passions of a large number of students — the case of Duplessis vs. Roncarelli — only some 450 members of the Society could be induced by any means to turn out. As a result, McGill students could do nothing as an official group. Perhaps many members feel that this is a good thing — that unless the 500 can be gathered nothing should be done by McGill students as such. Such an attitude is negative and dangerous — dangerous in that it will serve to stifle any initiative still left in our student body concerning questions of political and social import.

The background of the approval of the 500 figure is very interesting, as anyone who attended the meetings involved can well testify. It happened that figures of 200 and 350 were placed on the floor. The first was defeated easily when the tenor of the meeting allowed a practice of name-calling to exist and the L.P.P. Club was connected with the 200 figure. However, the perfectly logical and generally approved figure of 350 was similarly refused by the meeting when the general fear of pederasty groups was carried over. The next meeting then approved 500.

If we want a Students Society meeting to be a rarity and any official expression of student opinion to be a thing of the past, then perhaps we should keep the present arrangement. But, if we are looking for an enlightened student body interested in the world around it, not confined to its ivory tower, we must seek some way of working toward that end. We must see to it that if a sufficient number of students are interested enough to advance a particular opinion and if that opinion is not contrary to the will of the majority, then such an opinion can be considered official for McGill students. We have little to fear from a particular, pressure group if we remain awake and attend the meetings to protect our interests. Therefore we can realize our mistake and rectify it as soon as possible. — A.K.

ODE

Dedicated to Ivan A.

who has lately been addicted to wearing a hairy, woollen Balacava helmet of a somewhat grey colour, despite the objections of pained acquaintances.

by LEONARD R. ASHLEY.

Who is it Ivan would impress
With eccentricities of dress?
Perhaps he thinks it somewhat natty,
Indicative of literacy.
To wear upon his head a hat
That won't be touched by any cat,
(That is a cat with self-respect?)
The reason why I can't detect.
Oh, crown his brow with laurel leaf,
But not with lid of Mongol Chief.
Upon the street small children cry
Whenever Ivan passes by.
No punishment's too great for he
Who'd wear The Thing so publicly.
The likes of it were never seen
In any horrid Freudian dream.
For whom, I pray, was this Thing made?
Saladin of the Third Crusade?
The colour is of moulding bread
When mixed with toads' eyes, very dead.
As dark and awful as a "Damn!"
Occasioned by the Union's jam.
As nauseating verily
As Cafeteria-cold tea.
Its like is only seen at all
When drinking rubbing alcohol.
The grey of three-foot-up-a-flue,
Or lizard's gizzards, mixed with glue.
The damp grey of a muddy lea,
The grey dust from a mummy's knee.
The dinginess of Dickens' novels,
They grey of Mr. Ruskin's novels.
The grey found on a mildewed trunk,
Or face of a Tibetan monk
(Who fifty years, for love of Buddha,
Abstained from washing like he shuddha).
A filthy, foul, indecent, gross,
An irreligious and morose,
A somber, gloomy, dismal grey
That causes fear, awe, fright, dismay,
And terror, dread, and horror grim,
Acute revulsion, vision dim,
Disgust, abhorrence, loathing, fear...
(Would list of synonyms were near!)
All things of dread to beasts and birds...
(The paucity of English words!)
A grey personifying vice — Apart from that, it's rather nice.
I hesitate to further speak,
My reader won't eat for a week.
I dare not tell the awful truth
About that hat, that hat uncouth
Whose very soul is... I digress,
I shall not stoop to wantonness,
Nor in my just and holy rage
Will condescend to verbiage.
For in these comments on the hue
I but suggest the truth to you.
A Union pie of demised mince
At this Thing's horror only hints.
And Union coffee, when compared,
Is nectar which the gods have shared!
Let's hope on him this will impress
His eccentricities of dress.
Let's hope the moral he'll infer
And that immodest hat inter.
I think I need have little fear
My readers getting the idea.
So I shall cease before I state
A thing that might cause Ivan's hate,
Before hint at insult, end,
I do not wish to lose a friend.

The Owl At the Hockey Game By Mulligan

The noisy clattering of stacking chairs awakened the Owl from his blissful stupor, and the vigorous shakings of four waiters brought him out of his grotto beneath the table. As the fumes of the last fifteen draughts cleared from his befuddled brain, an enormous grin suffused his horrid countenance. Once again, his Hibouian wiles had outwitted his trusting cronies. Once again, the Owl had succeeded in passing out before the check could be hung on him; and once again, some unfortunate plumber had perforce taken an unpremeditated beating.

Finding himself caroming down Peel street, zig-zagging every second lamp-post and zagging numerous store windows, the Owl suddenly came to a slithering halt before a watch-repair emporium. The sight of the huge chronometer hung outside thereof had struck a lost chord in the dusty vacuum of his moth-eaten memory. It was nine o'clock, and McGill was to play their bitter rivals, les Carbinieres, at half-past eight. The Owl, by some wondrous process of mental calculation, evolved that fifteen minutes would get him to the Forum in time for the opening face-off, so, after plotting his course with the aid of the stars, his pocket almanack, and the fenders of annoyed motorists, the Owl headed due East.

Arriving downtown somewhere near the vicinity of the Main and LaGauchetière, the Owl sat down lugubriously on the curb to reorient his jangled sense of direction. Seeing numerous characters sneak into a rather run-down old edifice, the Owl concluded that perhaps maybe he had not recognized it as the Forum, and immediately rose unsteadily to his feet and tottered into the doorway. Inside, a long staircase ascended into the grubby glare of a single light bulb, beneath which two hulking individuals scowled upon all new arrivals. After three unsuccessful tries, the Owl at last made the top landing, somewhat winded and weak at the knees.

"And where, my good fellows, is the entrance to the players' room?" bleated the Owl, adjusting his enormous bifocals and trying to see whom he was addressing. "As assistant coach of the McGill team, I demand entrance!" This scheme usually worked and saved all the bother of forking out a dollar besides.

(To be continued)

BUDAPEST STRING QUARTET

When a string quartet finds itself among best selling recordings, that's news indeed. Considered the highest of high-brow mediums, beating the symphony orchestra, leader singing and operatic selections, chamber music doesn't usually climb to the popularity of swing bands and famous radio and concert warblers. The usual outlets for chamber music are small groups of intellectual music lovers, who also interest themselves in artistic movies and novels with a message. The Budapest String Quartet, foremost in this field, has changed all that, however. Today a string quartet by Beethoven played by the eminent Budapesters is apt to go over the counter of a record shop as easily as a recording of Benny Goodman or Bing Crosby.

The Budapest String Quartet is now composed of Josef Rolmann, first violin, Edgar Ortenberg, second violin, Boris Kroyt, viola and Mischa Schneider, violoncello. The name of the organization is old and eminent, for it goes back many years in the annals of European musical life. The present personnel, in expanding the physical radius of their activity have maintained the position of preeminence attaching to their name, but at the same time they have brought their actual performances to a degree of excellence hitherto unprecedented.

The justification of their decision is now a matter of history. All the world over the Budapest String Quartet is hailed as the superlative interpreter of chamber music. In the United States alone (where the artists are now permanently settled and well on their way to citizenship) the growth of their popularity is astonishing. Their American debut occurred at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., in December, 1930. A few days later they completely captured the public and critics of New York City. With no elaborate program of publicity, with only the commendation of their European success (fortunately not exaggerated) they came to the shores of a country already familiar with eminent chamber music organizations. The first season here the Budapest String Quartet played some twenty concerts. Last season just sixteen years later, America heard them more than 100 times. Further comment is unnecessary.

The Budapest String Quartet will pay their first visit to Montreal in more than a decade when they appear for one performance only at Plateau Auditorium the evening of March 10, 1947.

Tickets are on sale at Archam-

NESTOR CHAYRES, famous Mexican tenor, who will be presented by Canadian Concerts and Artists this evening in a concert at Plateau Hall. He will be accompanied on the piano by Pablo Miquel.

ARTISTIC CALENDAR

SLOGAN CONTEST: Our members are certainly interested to know the result of our slogan contest. Unfortunately, we did not receive the right slogan. So, it is impossible for us to proclaim a winner. Nevertheless, to reward our members who entered the contest, the Association has decided to reward the four best answers. Here they are, in order:

"L'art est une ascension vers l'idéal" — LUCILLE CLEMENT de l'école Supérieure Ste-Croix.
"Ars sol vitæ" — L'art, Soleil de la Vie — CAMILLE BELLEFLEUR de l'école Normale Jacques-Cartier.
"Through the Arts to a Better Understanding of all Men — PIERRE SENECALE, McGill University.

"Propager l'art, c'est semer la Paix" — LOUIS H. DESJARDINS du Collège Ste-Marie.

The winner of the special drawing is Mr. GUY LEGAULT, Ecole Normale Jacques-Cartier, No. 1180.
Thursday, February 13th, at Plateau Hall, Nestor Chayres, tenor presented by Canadian Concerts. Tickets 90.

Saturday, February 15th, at Plateau Hall, Matinee Symphoniques. Tickets 50.

Saturday, February 15th, at 2.30 p.m. at the Forum, Ice Follies. Tickets 50.

Monday, February 17th, Les Sagittaires, present Father Robert Llewellyn in a causerie "Bagage — All aboard" in St. Nom de Marie Hall at 9 p.m. Tickets 35.

Friday, February 21, at the Hermitage, McGill String Quartet. Tickets 45.

Thursday, February 27th, at His Majesty's Theatre, la Societe Classique presents Erno Balogh, pianist. Tickets 57, 85, 1.13.

EXHIBITIONS: Painting exhibition of Canadian Artists at the Secretariat. Our office will be open to visitors all week and Saturday and Sunday, the 15th and the 16th of February from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Welcome to every one. Until February 15th, Lauregtilan Landscapes by Robert W. Pilot, R.C.A. at the Watson Galleries. — Until February 16th, in the hall of the University of Montreal, exhibition of Robert Bonifil's work french painter, engraver and decorator and book binder.

For information apply at the Secretariat, 3815 Calixa-Lavallee, FR. 1119.

CAMPUS CAPERS CAST

The following are requested to turn out for the various roles in the Campus Capers show at CKAC Friday at 5.30.

Buzz Ferrell — Ian Fraser, Rodney Blair — Malcolm Smith, Leonard Ashley.

Hal Brock — Edgar Weiner, John Drexler, Arthur Carmale.

Lippy — Doreen Lipik, Bob — Falcolner.

Bubbles — Massey Vender, Joan — Bayer.

Pat Peterson — Doreen Lipik, Molly Speevak.

Ziggy — Don Fisher.

Bill — Randy Phillips.

Prof. Charles McHale.

Dean — Gerry O'Brien, Don Fisher.

LETTER FORUM

Dear Editor,—In view of the fact that Campus elections are around the corner I should like to suggest that the Red and White Society organize a pep rally and dance at which all the candidates would be invited to present their platforms and meet the students in general. This rally should take place on the date that nominations are turned in so that candidates be allowed and encouraged to carry on an open campaign. We want the candidates to show some spirit and interest!... the students will then take an active part in these important elections.

Yours sincerely,
ED. "CREDIT" KOSTINER.

baul's, 500 St. Catherine street east, and at Willis and Company, 1220 St. Catherine street west. Price — $1.50 to $2.00, tax included.

MISSING

A Remington Portable typewriter from the Men's Locker Room of the Medical Building. Please notify the Dental Faculty.

"Boy oh boy : i am lever ready for a Sweet Cap!"

SWEET CAPORAL CIGARETTES

"The purest form in which tobacco can be smoked"

Bridge must not be played in the Grill between 12 and 2 p.m.

"The Sweetest, Hottest Combo" in Canada Today"

—At a Fair Price

ROB ADAMS

• Small Orchestra

EL 5252

Two More Days!

Don't Be Disappointed
Order Your Copy NOW

"OLD MCGILL '47"

ORDER FORMS CAN BE OBTAINED FROM THE JANITOR OF YOUR BUILDING.

Dawson Trounces Rockland 55-33 In Basketball Contest

In and Out

Right "in" there this Friday eve when the Senior Red Cagers face Clarkson down in the U.S. will be BOB WAGNER, left, who has always been a potent point getter against the McGillians. "Out" of the tussle between the Queen's Crew and the Red Puckmen will be WARD PITFIELD, who is recovering from an operation on his mouth necessitated by an injury suffered in the last Varsity encounter.

Senior Cagers To Play Gaels

Ready to make up for the recent cage loss to Queen's University, McGill's Senior Basketball Squad heads down south this weekend to engage in another pair of stiff battles with some top-flight American quintets as their opponents.

Friday night finds them playing as guests at Potsdam against the Clarkson Tech. Engineers while on the following night the local ball carriers face St. Lawrence College. The Redmen have had a big job on their hands trying to cope with the razzle-dazzle speed of the teams down U.S. way, but they have picked up plenty of experience the hard way, trying to beat the Americans at their own game.

TWIN TRIUMPH: McGill stands at a win over Toronto and a loss against Queen's in the Intercollegiate Cage Loop while they also scored an impressive pre-season conquest of the University of New Brunswick. Thus

Puckmen Face Queens Friday

Coach Dave Campbell's colorful Redmen will be seeking their sixth win in seven starts this year when they face off against the winless Queen's pucksters this Friday night at Kingston. Play resumes where the two teams left off last Friday night when the McGillians ran up a 10-0 whitewashing at the Forum. The local icemen also captured the first of the three scheduled games with the Tricolor six by walking off with a 6-2 score.

This tilt looms as an important stepping-stone leading up to the "game-of-the-year" battle with the strong Toronto Blues next Friday at the Forum. A victory for the Campbell crew against the hapless Gaels will make things look just that much easier for this forthcoming battle with Varsity as they would still be in first place whether Toronto wins or loses against the University of Montreal this weekend.

McGill can expect another game

Yale Squashmen, Queens Badminton Squad Faces Red Teams At Currie Gym Saturday Afternoon

Pellets

TONY DUNCAN

McGill's squash team will run up against the toughest opposition they have faced this season when the Yale raquet swingers pull into town this Saturday. The Currie gym will be the scene of the action with play getting under way at 2.30 Saturday afternoon.

These Yalermen comprise the hottest college squash squad in the U.S.A. Coached by John Skillman, one time holder of the U.S. Open Squash Championship, the Bulldogs have run over all the teams unlucky enough to have stepped on the courts against them. Included among their victims are the cadets of West Point, who lost by an 8-1 count, and Dartmouth who were white-washed 9-0.

GENTLE FIGURES

Statistics like these are grim enough, but when you remember that Army defeated the Redmen 4-1 and that McGill just managed to down Dartmouth 4-3 it appears as if the Yale boys are going to be kinda hard to beat.

However, the picture isn't as black as it seems. McGill has some very good squash players who would like nothing better than to prove the old adage, "The bigger they are, the harder they fall." One thing sure, each of the nine matches will be hard-fought affairs with the Redmen contending exactly nothing to their highly rated opponents.

Led by Pete Landry, who has won more squash matches than anyone can calculate on anything less than a slide rule, the Red and White aggregation should be in great shape for the coming play. A few new men will take to the floor for McGill: Al Gillespie and Al Ward along with the winner of the Stairs-Todd match. The other five Redmen are Bob Colquhoun, Don Farlinger, Dave Culver, Guy Macfarlane and Andy LeMesurier.

Piff-Paff

Up above is PETE LANDRY, one of the main cogs in the dipper-dapper Red Squash team which faces the highly touted Yale Bulldogs this weekend.

Red Seconds Meet Bishops Puck Squad

McGill's Intermediate hockey squad swings into action against Bishops this Saturday afternoon at the Verdun Auditorium.

So far this season Ross Hutchings' crew have won two and lost three in league play, Dawson have gained two decisions over the Redmen and MacDonald one. On the credit side the Red team have defeated Bishops and Sir George Williams. Since the boys are meeting the Lennoxville pucksters whom they trounced 7-2 last time out, they have every hope of coming out of the weekend's play with a .500 average.

Birdies

ROSS BROUGHAM

The McGill men's badminton team encounters Queens on Saturday afternoon at the Currie gym, with the winner scheduled to proceed to London on Saturday, March 1st, to meet Western for the intercollegiate championship. Five singles and four doubles matches are on tap, commencing at 2:00 p.m. It is possible that the doubles matches will be held over until the evening to be run off in conjunction with the combination dance, boxing and wrestling, etc., exhibitions.

Coach Doug Grant announced the make-up of the team to face Queens on Tuesday night after a workout with a squad sent in from Dawson College. Gordie Simpson, of M.A. A.A. and St. Johns, will play No. 1 singles and will team up with Ron Dussault to form the first doubles team. The other four singles matches will be played by Ron Dussault, a member of last year's team, Bart Love, Lorne McKeown and Art Townson in that order. The second doubles team will be composed of Love and McKeown. Ted Dawson, another Dawson entrant, will be the sixth member of the McGill team and will see action if Ron Dussault is kept out of action with a sprained wrist.

Nothing is known of the calibre of the Queens team except that they have lost Leon Payette, one of their stand-bys in recent years.

Friday night has been allotted to mixed badminton as the A.C.S. formal will be in session on Thursday night at Currie Gym; all nine courts will be available for play Friday.

Red Shorts

by He

With typical coed enthusiasm the squabbles battled among themselves on Tuesday night for the intercollegiate championship. Even beginners, bound to be defeated, showed a praiseworthy spirit.

The preliminary rounds were quickly over and the defeated players formed an interested gallery for the exciting games to follow. The climax came when Mary Davidson almost met her match in Joan Ferrabee. After several breathtaking games she finally downed the freshman thus winning the tournament.

The final section scores were as follows: Section F 35, Section A 20, Sections D and E 15, Sections H and B 8. Question: Where was Section C?

CAGETTES CONQUER
Cheers to our basketball teams for the double victory over Y.W. C.A. They deserve a pat on the back considering the amount of time and energy that they have spent in practices.

Just to keep in shape for the coming intercollegiate matches, the team will have a short game tonight in the R.V.C. gym against the Town of Mount Royal Recreation group. Any spectators will be cordially welcomed.—Hint, hint....

On Saturday after the usual morning practice, the team will travel to MacDonald College for an exhibition game as part of an Athletics night program. The coeds will have dinner there and take part in the evening's activities.

Sad news for the coed fencers has been received in this office, namely that there will be no fencing either tonight or Saturday afternoon. Anyone desiring to fence at these times is to get in touch with Sheila Parnell Ma 9787 or at R.V.C. and make special arrangements to do so.

ROOM UP NORTH

Strange as it may seem, with all the fresh snowfalls, the R.V.C. ski house has several vacancies for this weekend! Latest reports from St. Adele (and other parts of the north country) indicate the skiing conditions are good, in fact almost perfect. Though the weather has been cold for the last few days, it is hoped that the sunshine will hold over the weekend. This would greatly add to the pleasure of a weekend up North. Why not take advantage of your opportunity and sign up now? Oh, and by the way don't forget to pay your registration and weekend fee at the same time!

Returning once more to the indoor sports we wish to remind archers of the coming Silver Arrow competition which starts on Wednesday night and will be completed the following week. The list has been posted on the R.V.C. notice board where all hopefuls are requested to sign it. Good shooting all...

Ken Taylor Garners 18 Points To Lead MBL High Scorers

By BOB USHER

It now looks as though the Dawson Senior MBL entry will square off against Migos in the league, playoff which will commence in the near future. This is by virtue of their 55-33 victory over Rockland last evening at Dawson College before a crowd of some 500 students and girls.

Showing much superior passing plays and all around finesse, the Blue and Red cagers romped through a weaker Montreal team. With Ken Taylor, now league leader in points, at the head with nine baskets, the Goldbloom coached aggregation piled up an enormous score.

FAST BREAK

The issue was never in doubt from the five second mark onward. It was at this time that Vern Taylor opened the scoring with a quick basket from the jump. This was quickly followed by a similar marker as brother Ken dropped one end exactly six seconds later.

The pattern of the game followed in a like manner with first one Taylor, then the other, potting baskets. By the time the first half was over the St. Johns lads found themselves in command of a 21-10 lead. The latter part of this stanza showed superb passing and ball handling displayed by such Red and Blue stars as Johnny Gearey and Vern Taylor set up basket after basket.

The second half started off with a surge of power by the Maroon and White Rockland team with Kessy and Rosenzweig in the lead they managed to narrow the margin to 11 points, putting a score of 40-29 with five minutes to go. However, here the Dawson team's superb co-ordination proved its value as they ran up 15 points in the remaining five minutes.

Artsmen Swamp Law Accountants Win Tilt

Gay Goodal was the big gun last night when Arts extended their unbeaten streak to four games by defeating Law to the tune of 8-2. Goodal notched four counters while teammates Dumoulin, Closter, Palmer, Piper and Wilson each registered singletons.

In the after-piece Commerce ran rough-shod over Science, trouncing them by the score of 8-1. Murray "Hurry" Hayes scored three for the winners, being closely followed by Read with two. Other marksmen for Commerce were McBoyle, McCance and St. Jacques who notched one apiece.

smoke the mild cigarette
Buckingham
THEY'RE "THROAT EASY"

IN BUSINESS FOR YOUR HEALTH

A REXALL STORE
AVANAGH'S PHARMACY REG'D
2001 McGill College Ave. at Burnside
J. C. HILLARY PROP.
Prescription and over-the-counter drugs, health and beauty products, and delivery.
PL. 6669
A Prescription Pharmacy Since 1865

Dawson Takes Intermediate Cage Fixture

The Jim Helme's coached Dawson Intermediate cage squad is now practically assured of a play-off berth after their 30-27 win against McGill last evening putting them in sole position of fourth spot. With both teams playing without their top scorers—Godel of Dawson and Eio for the Red and White—the game was fairly slow and the points kept down.

The Blue and Red squad looked like a real fighting bunch when they hit the floor but faulty passing nearly proved to be their downfall. The Sherbrooke St. branch turned in an excellent game considering the fact that only six players were dressed. Even with this lack of substitutes this sextet carried the Red and White banner well putting quite a scare into the Dawson crowd when they narrowed the lead down to one point with minutes remaining.

There was not much to choose between any of the Dawson five with the whole team turning in a fighting performance. The guarding and ball-handling of Brian Laing and Larry Brown, however, was noticeable on the Red and White side of the game. The shining star was Charlie Murray who not only turned in a splendid checking but also came out high scorer of the contest with ten points. This Dawson victory makes up for a previous McGill win 35-33 earlier in the season.

The Smartest Suit In Town
The College-Craft
Lo-Lounge Suit
Single and Double Breasted
LOWER WAISTLINE
LONGER LAPELS
STRAIGHT BACK
EASY FITTING BLADES
"Imported Materials — English Yarn-dyed Worsted, Blues, Greys and Browns; 100% Wool Gabardines, Saxories, Tweeds, Flannels, Etc."
Made to Measure From $45.00
Ready to Wear From $37.50
WEAR THEM... COMPARE THEM
College Craft Clothes
1447 MCGILL COLLEGE AVENUE, MONTREAL - PLATAU 8909
Men's and Ladies' Clothiers, Furriers and Haberdashers
LES WEINER AL VINEBERG

SUMMER JOB

3 Musicians for a Summer Hotel in the Laurentians—

2 Saxophone Players
1 Piano Player

to play 2 or 3 evenings per week. Must be able to swim or do minor office work during days.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

Phone Univets — HA. 6405

ENJOY THE GOOD THINGS OF LIFE IN THE HOMEY ATMOSPHERE

Look For the Windmill

OF THE
OLD MILL CAFE
Nightly Music
EXCELLENT FOOD
Continental Style
Every Day different, delicious LUNCH and DINNER
Full course SPECIALS 45 cts. up
Some of our Dainties (Full Course)
Fried Country Sausages ..... 85c
Port Chop ..... 85c
Vienna Schnitzel ..... $1.00
1192e ST. CATHERINE ST. W.
One block west of Peel St. (South side)

Arts and Science Undergraduate Society

Nominations for the following positions on the Executive of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society; are called for:

- President (Male undergraduate, in third year)
- 1st Vice-President (Female, second year)
- 2nd Vice-President (Male, second year)
- Corresponding Secretary (Female, first year)
- Recording Secretary (Female, first year)
- Treasurer (Male, third year)

Nominations must be signed by at least ten regular undergraduates in the Faculty of Arts and Science.

Nominations must be turned in to Walter, in the Arts Building before noon Friday, February 21.

Elections will be held on Wednesday, March 5th, 1947.

Red Skiers to Face Top-Flight Colleges in Dartmouth Carnival

By ANDY HUGESSEN

(Daily Staff Writer)

"Four men permitted to score, three finish, the team time shall be the sum of the times of three men multiplied by 1.78". So runs a paragraph of the highly complicated scoring rules of skiing. Other paragraphs go on to demonstrate the fact that the Redmen will be scored for a mythical six events when actually they only compete in four. You now have some idea of the problems confronting ski manager George Riley at the annual Dartmouth Winter Carnival tomorrow and Saturday.

Team work and steady skiing, emphasized so frequently by coach Luggi Foeger, will be the order of the day at the Hanover meet as so much depends on two events, the downhill-slam combined and the cross-country-jumping (also) combined.

These combined scores are computed by multiplying each man's time in his two events by variable factors, depending on the length of the courses, then adding them together.

LEAPIN LIZARDS

The jump is the most unique of the events in competition since points are awarded for style as well as for distance. However, score for distance cannot be reckoned until the end of the event since the longest leap of the day, or "long standing jump" is taken as the basis for scoring. McGill is particularly strong in this department, boasting such stars as Karre Olsen and John Foster, both of whom have won previous competitions at Middlebury and Dartmouth, as well as Baz Davis and Ted Pope.

The Redmen left at an early hour this morning by car and intend to arrive at Hanover in time for a practice on the downhill trail. The downhill and slalom events are slated for tomorrow with an eight mile cross country as a waker-upper first thing Saturday morning. The jump will take place in the afternoon.

The skiing braintrust in the persons of coaches Luggi Foeger and Harry Pangman and manager Riley are making the trip with the team to boost the morale of their charges.

BOWLING CLUB

The McGill Bowling Club held an open meeting yesterday at 1 p.m. with a good turnout of potential enthusiasts. Practices are to take place in the field house every week on Tuesday from 5 to 6, and on Saturday from 2-4. It was again re-emphasized that no experience was necessary so that anyone interested should turn out.

SWIMMING PRACTICE

Tryouts for the Amherst Swimming Meet will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the Community Hall pool, N.D.G. It is imperative that all members of the swimming team attend.

LOST

Red striped Shaeffer pen. Room 12 Arts Building, Wed. afternoon. Will finder please notify Leonard Waldman—DO. 5864.

LOST

Men's leather fur line gloves at the Gym. last Thursday. Please phone LA. 1752, Arnold Brenhouse.

You can't go wrong if you write a SONG on the chance of winning some dough—
Not one to croon—but a MARCHING TUNE at FIFTY BUCKS a throw;
Or for TEN BUCKS clear you can write a CHEER to add to the hue and cry,
So beat the DEADLINE—the 1st of March—before your chances fly!!

With apologies to Robert W. Service.

Leave your entries at the Union Tuck Shop

Senior Cagers—p. 3

a double win would give our boys plenty to be happy about and would really set them up as a formidable squad when they face Western next week.

Last year the lads from Clarkson gave our quintet a 72-47 trimming and so McGill's Seniors are out to avenge that one. They emerged victorious the last time they faced St. Lawrence, and it is hoped that they will be able to repeat the performance.

Leading the rushing for McGill will be George "Flick" Davidson who has turned in many fine games this year at home and on rival floors. Other guys who are good at the business of swishing the cordage, namely Duford, Bloom, Fraser and Hoyle, should be all-right for themselves in a scoring way against any opposition they run up against.

Puckmen Pace—p. 3

tomorrow night with plenty of fireworks, bumping and bruising bodychecks, for what the Kingston boys lack in scoring goals they make up for in their typical style of rough, hard play from the opening whistle to the last blast.

INJURIES

The local boys will miss the services of battling Ward Pittfield, who has turned in some fine rushing games this year. Pittfield recently underwent a mouth operation as a result of losing some teeth via a Toronto stick in the fray where our boys suffered a 4-1 loss. Joe Petit has been suffering the effects of an injured knee, and this valuable puckcarrier is at present a doubtful starter.

Carrying the mail tomorrow night for the Redmen are the Hales, Gelineau, Brough, Gosselin, Heron and Company who are ready and waiting to take on all comers. Another shelling would look good in the McGill books at this time.

Debate—p. 1

ment of free peace measures. Raymond pointed out that the veto is not responsible for the existent U.N.O. It is fear of future war that exists all over the world. The affirmative maintained that there would be no U.N.O. without the veto and therefore whatever happens can be attributed to veto.

The judges for the debate at McGill were Mr. A. S. Dawson, Rev. Burgoyne and Henry S. Hall, Esq. Professor John Dando of the English Department acted as Chairman.

Education—p. 1

BROOKLYN POLY—Chemistry

A practical course in the management of chemical plants is being offered by the Graduate School of Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn during the spring term. Graduate students in chemical engineering and qualified men from industry with equivalent college training are eligible for the course.

ADELPHI—Co-Education

The trustees of Adelphi College have voted to continue the Garden City, L.I., institution on a co-educational basis, on which it was originally chartered fifty years ago.

Beginning in 1912, the entrance of male students was discontinued, but last year returning GI's seeking higher education were enrolled. At present there are 850 male students in the college and 1,150 female students.

UNION—GI Expenses

To counteract the general feeling among students and the public that "colleges are now rolling in wealth as a result of the GI Bill of Rights," President Carter Davidson of Union College, Schenectady, has issued a special statement indicating that it costs $1,117 each year to educate a student in the Union College general curriculum, not counting costs of board and room which are paid for in relation to actual expense. Of this amount, he said, the student pays in tuition only $450, or less than one-half.

NYU—Industrial Design Class

A study of the way mass production and mass distribution determine the shapes of the products of America's machines will form the basis of a new course in industrial design at New York University this spring. Members of the Society of Industrial Designers will discuss the social-esthetic aspects of machine civilization in the evening course for designers and laymen.

RENSSELAER—USO Building

To provide more library and study space on its campus, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute has acquired from the Army a former USO building containing a stage and a large recreation hall. The building will be shipped from Windsor Locks, Conn., to Troy, N.Y., for use as a study and a library during the day and for lectures, movies and plays in the evenings.

WAYNE—Graduate Course

A new graduate curriculum has been established at Wayne University in Detroit to prepare professionally trained personnel to carry out the increased needs of vocational rehabilitation. The course will be open to teachers and others interested in handicapped children and adults.

LATIN AMERICAN—New Unit

After giving courses in public relations for several years, the Latin American Institute has now established a complete and separate unit for teaching public relations at both its New York and Chicago schools. The faculty has been enlarged and is composed of professionals in the fields of newspapers, radio, and motion pictures, advertising, personnel work, public speaking, marketing research, international relations and public-opinion statistics. The courses are open to high school and college graduates.

BRITAIN—U.S. Students

For the first time since 1939 British universities this year will hold summer sessions for American students. Despite enormous difficulties, five universities—Oxford, Birmingham, Aberdeen, London and Liverpool—have made plans to accommodate nearly 400 American graduates. A variety of courses is available for Bachelor of Art who wish to combine a visit to Britain with serious study under eminent scholars.

IMPORTED SNOW—

The Finn-Ronne Research Expedition to the South Pole will take along a supply of materials and instructions from General Electric scientist Vincent J. Schaefer on the preservation of snow crystals. If all goes well the Antarctic species of crystals in preserved form will be brought back for observation and study by Schaefer. The polar flakes will be preserved through Schaefer's plastic replica method, whereby flakes are caught from the atmosphere in a quickly drying liquid plastic solution. The plastic follows every convolution. The result is a perfect reproduction of the flake.

COLGATE—Public Welfare

Featuring field trips to selected agencies in Albany and central New York, "Problems in Public Welfare" will be introduced into the Colgate University curriculum with the cooperation of the State Department of Public Welfare during the second semester just starting. The course, one of fourteen to be offered at Colgate for the first time during the second semester, will be taught by a representative of the State Department of Public Welfare serving as a visiting lecturer. It will pay special attention to child-care programs and the means by which the community meets its responsibility for the relief of social and economic losses resulting from illness, age and unemployment.

QUEENS—Speech Survey

The Queens College Speech and Hearing Center is conducting a special study of children with delayed speech to determine what factors are directly or indirectly related to the problem. The center, which treats community children suffering from speech and hearing defects, hopes to develop a preventive program for parents. Studies of family relationships of the children involved will be undertaken to determine whether there is any correlation between these situations and delayed speech and to learn how much improvement in intellectual functioning and social intelligence accompanies improvement in speech.

MICHIGAN STATE—New Degree

Michigan State College will offer a degree in Agricultural Extension starting with the fall term. The course is designed to train those employed by Federal and State agencies serving agriculture, or by commercial firms in the agricultural field.

STANFORD—Married Students

Marriage is an academic asset, according to a survey conducted at Stanford University. More than 1,200 married veterans there proved it by doing better work than single ex-servicemen. Married students at Stanford have increased until now about one of every five students there is in that category. Plans for a day nursery are being studied by the university, where the married veterans quartered in low-priced apartments at Stanford Village—formerly the Army's Dible General Hospital—were last reported to have a total of seventy-nine children.

NORTHWESTERN—Fellowship

An annual $300 fellowship intended to promote interfaith relations on the campus, has been established at Northwestern University by the B'nai B'rith-Hillel Foundations. The award will be given to a student of any faith, who (the committee feels), has done the most to improve interfaith and inter-group harmony at the University. It will be presented at the end of the student's junior year and will be used for the senior semester. The fellowship is already in effect at the universities of Alabama, Kansas, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Indiana.

CHINESE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION AND S.C.M.

The Chinese Students' Association is joining with the S.C.M. in sponsoring a sleigh ride and a Valentine's Day party on Friday, February 14, at 7 p.m.

Everyone should be up at the S.C.M., 3574 University street, at 7 sharp. If the weather is unfavourable, the party will be on.

The charge for the sleigh ride is approximately $1.00 per person.

L.V.C.F. LUNCHEON

Rev. Maurice Flint, Canadian secretary of the Scripture Union, will be the speaker at luncheon on Thursday, February 13, at 1 p.m.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

On Friday, February 14, at six p.m., the Cosmopolitan Club executive are asked to meet in the Union Reading Room to have a picture taken for the Annual. A short business meeting will follow. It is exceedingly important that all the executive attend.

PRE-MED SOCIETY

There will be a short meeting of the Pre-Med Society in room 250 of the Biology Building this afternoon. The pins will be on sale, and it is requested that all those who ordered them be present. Memberships will be sold for the price of 25 cents.

As future meetings will be limited to those holding membership cards, it is urged that all potential members be present.

Club News

STUDENT LABOUR CLUB

"Symposium on World Peace"

Next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Union Grillroom, the S.L.C. is sponsoring a symposium on the subject, "Labour Looks at World Peace."

The meeting will present views on how world peace can be maintained and what role students can play. The speakers will be Jean-Marie Bedard, Regional Director of the Canadian Congress of Labour; Leslie Roberts, journalist and correspondent; Rev. Alex. Cameron, Secretary for the Quebec Committee for the Defence of Trade Union Rights; and Professor Hall.

Professor Hall is connected with the Sociology department at McGill and worked on the Research and Statistics branch of the Department of Labour during the war. He is especially interested in post-war reconstruction problems with regard to labour. Further details of this meeting will follow in subsequent club notices.

FRENCH SOCIETY

The French Society announces its annual skiing weekend, under the direction of Miss Madeleine Bodier. The participants, who pledge themselves to speak nothing but French through the whole weekend, leave on Friday, February 28th, at 6:20 p.m. from Central Station, and return on Sunday night. They will stay at Otter Lake House, Huberdeau; there they will enjoy grand skiing country and wonderful meals. The cost of the weekend, including trainfare will be between $10 and $11, according to the number of participants. If you wish to join the group, give your name and full fee to Miss Bodier, Room 54, Arts Building, on Thursday from 2:30 to 4 p.m. or Monday from 3 to 4 p.m.; or give Nicole Baudelaire, RVC; or give your name and fee, in an envelope addressed to Miss Bodier, to any member of the French Department, as soon as possible.

CHINESE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION AND S.C.M.

The Chinese Students' Association is joining with the S.C.M. in sponsoring a sleigh ride and a Valentine's Day party on Friday, February 14, at 7 p.m.

Everyone should be up at the S.C.M., 3574 University street, at 7 sharp. If the weather is unfavourable, the party will be on.

The charge for the sleigh ride is approximately $1.00 per person.

L.V.C.F. LUNCHEON

Rev. Maurice Flint, Canadian secretary of the Scripture Union, will be the speaker at luncheon on Thursday, February 13, at 1 p.m.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

On Friday, February 14, at six p.m., the Cosmopolitan Club executive

Mr. Flint is an ex-padre of the R.A.F. and an ex-missionary to Baffinland. If the list at Student House is full, bring your own lunch or come at 1:30, but be sure and come.

SPANISH CLUB

The following will have their picture taken on Friday at 5 p.m. in the Reading Room of the Union: John Chipman, Andre Lamontagne, M. I. Prados, Francine Weller.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

There will be a general meeting today at 5 o'clock in the Music Room of the McGill Union. The agenda of the meeting will include the following items:

1. Minutes
2. Eventual additions to the agenda
3. Adoption of the constitution
4. Membership—Pearson meeting
5. Communications
6. Liaison with C.I.A.
7. February programme meeting
8. March programme meeting.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CLUB

All members and supporters of the club are reminded of the meeting this afternoon at which John G. Diefenbaker, K.C., M.P. will be present. This meeting, which will be held in the Union Reading Room from 4:30 to 6 p.m. is to provide an opportunity for all interested students to meet Mr. Diefenbaker, who is regarded as one of Canada's leading Parliamentarians. He is an expert on Dominion-Provincial affairs and is the sponsor of the Bill of Rights in the current Parliament and his opinions on these subjects should be well worth the attention of all students.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT

Dr. Jacob Chandy of the Montreal Neurological Institute, who was scheduled to give a lunch-hour talk yesterday on the "S.C.M. of India", was unable to do so on account of an emergency operation at which he had to perform.

He will, however speak today at the S.C.M. house at a lunch meeting at 1:00 p.m.

This is another in a series of talks on the World's Student Christian Federation presented as a part of our observance Federation Week. Dr. Chandy was an active member of the Indian Movement for a number of years, and has a wide knowledge of problems confronting students in the Indian universities.

The talk begins at 1:30.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

On Friday, February 14, at six p.m., the Cosmopolitan Club executive cutive are asked to meet in the Union Reading Room to have a picture taken for the Annual. A short business meeting will follow. It is exceedingly important that all the executive attend.

PRE-MED SOCIETY

There will be a short meeting of the Pre-Med Society in room 250 of the Biology Building this afternoon. The pins will be on sale, and it is requested that all those who ordered them be present. Memberships will be sold for the price of 25 cents.

As future meetings will be limited to those holding membership cards, it is urged that all potential members be present.

Smoke
BRITISH CONSOLS
Extra Mild Cigarettes

| THE MONTREAL CITY and DISTRICT SAVINGS BANK 1946                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|
| Hundredth                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Annual Report    |
| To the Shareholders:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                  |
| Gentlemen:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                  |
| Your Directors have pleasure in presenting the Hundredth Annual Report of the Bank, and the results of its operations for the year ending December 31, 1946.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                  |
| The net profit for the year was $455,759.14, and the balance brought forward from last year's Undivided Profit Account was $131,018.32, making a total of $586,777.46. From this amount, the usual quarterly dividends, with an extraordinary dividend of 1 1/2%, have been paid to the Shareholders and—except from the sum of $3,875.00, interest on the Charity Donation Fund, which was carried on usual—the Bank distributed $15,150.00 to various charitable and philanthropic institutions, leaving a balance of the credit of Undivided Profit Account of $581,827.45, to be carried forward to next year. |                  |
| As usual, a frequent and thorough inspection of the books and assets of the Bank has been made during the year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                  |
| The report of the Auditors and the Balance Sheet are herewith submitted.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                  |
| D. A. HINGSTON, President.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                  |
| GENERAL STATEMENT OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                  |
| ASSETS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                  |
| Cash on hand and in Chartered Banks                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | $ 11,551,298.39 |
| Domestic and Provincial Government Bonds                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 93,238,858.42    |
| Canadian Municipal and School Corporation bonds and debentures                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 18,531,947.69    |
| Bonds of Canadian Public Utility Corporations                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 4,872,100.00     |
| Sundry Securities                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 375,000.00       |
| Call and Short Loans, secured by collateral                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 3,815,399.72     |
| Loans to Fabricators de Produits et de Religious Corporations                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 71,500.00        |
| Charity Donation Fund, invested in Dominion and Canadian Municipal Securities approved by the Dominion Government                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 180,000.00       |
| Bank premises (Head Office and Branches)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 1,000,000.00     |
| Other Assets                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 89,811.55        |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | $ 1,091,811.55  |
| On behalf of the Board:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | $133,725,915.77 |
| D. A. HINGSTON, President.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                  |
| LIABILITIES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                  |
| To the Public:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                  |
| Deposits bearing interest, including interest accrued to date                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | $124,101,655.50 |
| Deposits not bearing interest                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 2,147,402.96     |
| Charity Donation Fund                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 180,000.00       |
| Over Limitation                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 1,183,178.21     |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | $127,412,236.67 |
| To the Shareholders:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                  |
| Capital Stock                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 2,000,000.00     |
| Reserve Fund                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 3,750,000.00     |
| Balance of Profit carried forward                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 261,527.45       |
| Dividends outstanding                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 2,563.64         |
| Dividends payable January 2nd, 1947                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 100,000.00       |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | $ 6,114,191.10  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | $133,526,427.77 |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | $ 1,091,811.55  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | $133,725,915.77 |
| On behalf of the Board:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                  |
| D. A. HINGSTON, President.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                  |
| J. TAGGART MATH, General Manager.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                  |

For a faster,
neater hair
groom...

check DRY SCALP with
Vaseline
HAIR TONIC

5 drops a day is all you need!

If your hair lacks lustre—if it's dry, dandruffy, hard to manage—chances are "dry scalp" is the cause. The hair-nourishing natural oils are lacking. Supplement them the quick, easy way—with "Vaseline" Hair Tonic. A few drops each morning before you brush your hair works with nature—not against it—to keep your scalp healthy, your hair neat and good-looking all day long. Get "Vaseline" Hair Tonic at any toilet goods counter—50¢ and 85¢.

Use it, too, for a BETTER SHAMPOO

Rub "Vaseline" Hair Tonic generously onto the scalp, then wash your hair in the usual way. Result: invigorated scalp—no loose dandruff—really clean hair. Finally, 5 drops of "Vaseline" Hair Tonic before brushing, for that day-long groomed look.

Chemical Manufacturing Co., Inc.

YOUR HAIR DESERVES THIS CARE!

NOTICE

Nominations for the following offices are called for:

PRESIDENT OF THE WOMEN'S UNION
SECRETARY OF THE WOMEN'S UNION
PRESIDENT OF THE MCGILL WOMEN STUDENTS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

These nominations must be in writing, and must be signed by at least 25 women undergraduates. The nominations must be handed to a member of the Women's Union Executive Council in the Women's Union office in the basement of the Royal Victoria College, between 1:00 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Friday, February 14th, Monday, February 17th, or Tuesday, February 18th.

The President of the McGill Women's Students' Athletic Association must be elected from among the members of Third Year, to hold office in her Fourth Year.

No nominations will be accepted after 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, February 18, 1947.

Elections will be held on Wednesday, March 5th, 1947.

CAMPUS SPORT SCHEDULE

| INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL                             |  |
|---------------------------------------------------|--|
| Friday                                            |  |
| 5 p.m. Phys. Ed. 1 vs. Comm. 4                    |  |
| 6 p.m. Phys. Ed. 3 vs. Dents.                     |  |
| INTERFACULTY HOCKEY                               |  |
| Friday                                            |  |
| 5 p.m. Eng. vs. Dents.                            |  |
| Friday                                            |  |
| 5 p.m. Law vs. Eng.                               |  |
| 6 p.m. Arts vs. Dents.                            |  |
| VOLLEYBALL                                        |  |
| Friday                                            |  |
| 5 p.m. Comm. 3 vs. Dents; Eng. 4 vs. Med. 2 and 3 |  |
| 6 p.m. Sci. 3 and 4 vs. Law; Eng. 2 vs. Comm. 2   |  |
| M.B.L.                                            |  |
| Senior                                            |  |
| 8:30 p.m. Rockland at Dawson.                     |  |
| Intermediate                                      |  |
| 8:30 p.m. Dawson at McGill.                       |  |

Club News

C.C.F. CLUB

The next meeting of our Thursday, one o'clock study group will be addressed by Mr. Jacques Perrault. Mr. Perrault is counsel for the United Textile Workers, and is at the present time the lawyer of Madeleine Parent. His topic will be "The Rights of Labor and Their Justification." The meeting is open to all interested in this vital topic.

N.F.C.U.S.

There will be a meeting at 5 p.m. tonight of the panel on Racial Discrimination at McGill, in the NFCS Room in the Union Basement. All interested students are invited to attend.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has a membership of a quarter-million.

NOTICE

Nominations for the following office are called for:

President of the Students' Society

These nominations must be in writing and in the hands of the Secretary of the Students' Society, McGill Union, by 2:30 P.M., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18th, 1947. Nominations must be signed by 100 members of the Students' Society. There should be two or more nominations. Women students to sign nominations for President of Students' Society and Debating Union Society only.

Nominations for the following offices are called for:—

President of the McGill Union.
Vice-President of the McGill Union.
Secretary of the McGill Union.

The Vice-President will not have living accommodation in the McGill Union.

These nominations must be in writing and in the hands of the Secretary of the Students' Society by 2:30 P.M., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18th, 1947. Nominations must be signed by at least 25 male members of the Students' Society.

Representative to the Athletics Board.

Nominations for Representatives to the Athletics Board must be signed by at least 50 male members of the Students' Society.

No nominations will be accepted after the hour above specified.

Elections will be held on Wednesday, March 5th, 1947

"No undergraduate shall sign more than one nomination sheet for anyone office." This rule is applicable to the Executive of the McGill Union only.

Nomination for the following offices are called for:—

President of the McGill Debating Union Society.
Vice-President of the McGill Debating Union Society.
Secretary of the McGill Debating Union Society.
Junior Treasurer of McGill Debating Union Society.

These nominations must be in writing and in the hands of the Secretary of the Students' Society by 2:30 P.M., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18th, 1947. Nominations must be signed by at least 10 members of the Students' Society.